The editor yesterday had a severe attack of Chills Fever, and consequently felt quite incapacitated from writing editorials.

It has Always been so!

It is stated as a fact, says the Philadelphia Argus, by those who have paid attention to the subject, that from the time of Thomas Jefferson down to the present day, the elections to every second Congress of a Democratic Administration have resulted, as the recent, in a temporary triumph of the Opposition. Not only so, but the same thing is so far as the other party is concerned. Gen. Jackson, during the whole eight years of his Presidency, had one or other branch of Congress arrayed against him, and sometimes both. The same was true of Mr. Van Buren. In 1840, with the aid of hard cider-corn skins, and song singing, Gen. Harrison was elected by an overwhelming majority; yet in the second year of that administration, the elections all went the other way, and his pet party measures were all defeated except the Bankrupt law, and that only lived a few months. Gen. Taylor was also elected by a large majority. The second year of his administration witnessed a revolution in politics which would have left his successor, the Vice President, without a party but for the sagacity in adapting his political principles to suit the exigencies of the times. Mr. Fillmore, by taking a conservative position, and advocating the Constitutional rights of the South, sustained himself and saved what was left of his administration from utter annihilation. Then came the administration of Mr. Polk—one of the most popular we ever had—against which less could be urged than most others; but, in the second year of his administration, in 1846, he received quite as pointed a "rebuke," as far as the election went, as the present Administration. But let us look at more recent illustrations. No man was ever elected President, where there was a strong party contest, by such a crushing, overwhelming majority as Gen. Pierce; yet the elections which took place the second year of his administration, in 1854, were much more disastrous than those which have recently been held. He was "rebuked" upon the very same question which the Opposition now falsely claim to have tested for the first time, and which they assert entered into the late canvass—the Kansas question.

The truth is, Mr. Buchanan has not been "rebuked" for his Kansas policy. It was the universal pressure of the times, more than any thing else, which brought about the recent revolution in politics, and which was unjustly attributed to the Administration. If Mr. Buchanan had been "rebuked," so was Thomas Jefferson, so was Gen. Jackson, Gen. Harrison, Mr. Polk, Gen. Taylor, Mr. Fillmore, and Gen. Pierce; so have been nearly all the Presidents we have had in the last sixty years. The elections the second year of their several administrations all terminated in precisely the same way (unless even more disastrously) than the late election has done in Pennsylvania and other States of the Union. This is a matter of history, and yet the Democratic party lived and grew stronger, under all those reverses—and it will do so under the present. The corrupt thangers on will drop off; the dead weights upon our glorious old party will be thrown aside. Like America, our party will fall to the earth only increase our strength and renovate our vitality.

New York Election.—The Albany Evening Journal, claims a plurality of 15,000 in the whole State for E. D. Morgan, the Republican candidate for Governor, over ADAM J. PARKER, the Democratic candidate.

Massachusetts Election.—The Boston Post says the total vote is 113,382 a falling off of nearly 15,000 upon that of last year, but in that decreased vote there is exhibited a Democratic gain of over 6,000.

Beaumont, Tex. The Democratic candidate received 36,669, Banks, Republican, 65,091; and LAWRENCE American, 11,622.

The following are the Congressmen elected: 1st, Republicans: First District, Thomas D. Elliot; Second, James Bullington; Third, Charles F. Adams; Fourth, Alexander H. Hill; Fifth, Anson Burlingame; Sixth, John B. Alley; Seventh, Daniel W. Gooch; Eighth, Charles R. Smith; Ninth, Eli Thayer; Tenth, Charles Delano; Eleventh, Henry L. Daves.

The Post in commenting upon the result of the election says:—The Democracy have fought the campaign manfully and well; have cast a good vote for their candidate; and found favor with a large portion of the patriotism and intelligence of the State. There is no reason why they should be discouraged. The argument is on their side; and when the mist of prejudice and misrepresentation shall have passed from before the eyes of the people, they are likely to see the way when they would not see it before. The cause they should support for later commend itself to the good sense of the people of Massachusetts.

Wisconsin.—The Milwaukee News, crowns most lustily over the victory of Larrabee. It claims his election by at least 1,500, and says of the result:—

Next, in success of Douglas in Illinois, stands the triumph of Judge Larrabee in the State. After a most thorough canvass of the Third District, and elaborate discussion of the principles involved in the late election, Judge Larrabee has achieved a victory over his opponent, who was strongly seconded by Douglas, Randall and Schurz, which is without a parallel in the political history of this State. We rejoice over it, and forget in the fullness of our joy, the misfortune which have befallen our party in other parts of the Union.

A Singular Vote.—At the late election in Massachusetts the town of South Danvers voted as follows for Governor:—

Beaumont, Dem. 444
Banks, Rep. 444
Lawrence, Am. 444

That town was very impartial of its favors, and was determined that no party should have cause to complain of it.

Daring Robbery of $16,000.—The Thieves Arrested and Money Recovered!—On Thursday night the Paymaster of the Toledo, Wabash & Western R. R. Co. brought $16,000 to this place, to pay the hands on the road. He put the safe containing the money in the telegraph office at the Round House, and next morning discovered that it had been opened and the money abstracted. Suspicion being excited against F. Rivers, the boss painter of the company, and a watchman at the round-house, named Augustus Frederick, they were arrested, and all the money except $200 in specie recovered. They were committed for trial at the present term of the Allen Circuit Court.

The Next Congress.

The House, including Oregon, consists of 237 members. The Washington States says: "in no contingency can the Republicans have the control of the next Congress." That paper makes the following estimate of the complexion of the next House:

The States yet to elect are Alabama, Connecticut, California, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Minnesota, Mississippi, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia, which elect eighty six members. In the present House they stand as follows:

	Dem.	Rep.	Am.
Add already elected	67	7	12
Members elected	94	12	104
Present representation	66	12	1
States yet to elect	66	12	1

The Union says:—It will be seen that though the Democratic party should elect men of their own in every southern district not represented by Americans, it would still have but a hundred and ten, a minority of the House. The admission of Oregon would give another member; but there would still be but a hundred and thirteen of the hundred and nineteen necessary to a majority. Nor is it probable that the party will elect more than six or eight in place of the twelve Americans now representing southern districts; and so it is hardly possible that the full strength of the party in the next House can be more than about one hundred and ten in two hundred and thirty six members.

On the other hand, it is obvious that no branch of the opposition will have control of that body; for there will be but one hundred and eleven Republicans, twelve and a half Leconte Democrats, and say four or five Southern Americans. In other words, the complexion of the House will be very similar to that of the session of 1855-56, which was equalized by so long and so close a struggle for the organization of that body, yet it is to be considered that the opposition shall subsist between the Democrats and Leconte Democrats and the Republicans as subsisted last winter, when Mr. Harris, of Illinois, acted as leader of the coalition, the Black Republican strength in the House will be as decided as one hundred and twenty for, or a clear majority, exclusive of such Americans as Winter Davis, of six in a full House.

The New House of Representatives.—It is conceded that the Democrats have elected the following members of the next House of Representatives:

	Ohio	Indiana	Pennsylvania	New York	Illinois
Total	6	5	8	4	5

To this we may add California two, and Oregon one, making twenty four. There is a chance for one in Michigan, and possibly some in the States. We have not included in the above list H. C. Adams, of New York; Clarke, Harkins and Reynolds, of New York; who call themselves Democrats, but who were voted for and elected by the Union Opposition. There are ninety members from the slave States. Of these it may be safely estimated, the Democrats will elect eighty two. The next House, therefore, would stand upon these calculations:

	Democrats	Southern Americans	Independent Democrats	Republicans
Total	106	8	8	116

The Republicans and their allies will pretty certainly have the control of the next House. It there is no other way to get the organization, they will obtain it by adopting the plurality rule in the election of a Speaker. Cincinnati Enquirer.

Washington Items.—The well informed and conservative Washington correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce, writing under date of the 5th inst. says:—

The result of the election in Illinois as such will secure the re-election of Mr. Douglas to the United States Senate in opposition to his Republican competitor, Mr. Lincoln. Another gratifying result is that the relative Democratic strength in that State has been increased. The Democratic candidate for the Presidency and Vice-Presidency in 1860, obtained in Illinois only a meagre plurality. A majority of votes had polled thirty seven thousand votes. The large portion of the American vote must at this election, have been cast for the Democratic candidates.

This, in a doubtful and important State, the Lincoln Seward doctrine have met with a signal rebuke, notwithstanding the perverseness of some of the Democrats.

Mr. Douglas comes back to the Senate with increased popularity and influence, and is there able, as well as his opponent, to exercise a conciliatory course. Through his example and fluency, discourses, whatever they may be, in the Democratic party, will cease, and it will be prepared to meet the coming struggle with the Republicans in a firm and united body. The union of the Democracy was never so necessary for the safety of the Union as at present, when the Republican chiefs have, in effect, proclaimed their purpose to instigate and provoke a war of secession.

If New York, by the recent election, really intends to declare in favor of the Seward doctrine, that she cannot present her own liberties while slavery exists in the South; she ought to begin, at once, a proper system of hostilities against the enemy, by a suspension of commercial intercourse with the Southern States, and an exclusion from her markets of all slave grown products. She had better take steps to enable her South to become independent of her trade. If she persists in the Seward policy, the South may, however, take her own measures accordingly, and, perhaps, this is the object at which the Republican leaders aim. For, over the North, as a separate entity, they may hope to rule with absolute sway.

It is almost a certainty that the Republicans will be badly cheated in several men whom they elected to have the next House of Representatives. For instance, the New York Representative, Mr. B. B. Prentiss for defendant in the late case.

The Court holds that "company not to have complied with the laws of Ohio in its proceeding to perfect an incorporation and to be not a corporation. The decision is an important one, not only to the stockholders of this, but of other roads in Ohio and will probably be published. Toledo Blade.

Origin of the F. R. V.—Many of our readers have heard of the "First Families of Virginia"; but few, we take it, know how the term originated. An exchange explains it thus:—

In the early settlement of that State, it was found impossible to colonize it unless women were there. Accordingly, a shipload was sent out, but no planter was allowed to marry one of them until he had first paid one hundred pounds for her passage. When the second shipload came, no one would pay the price, so the company of women was sold for the matrimonial privilege, except it were a very superior article, consequently the descendants of all these who were sold for one hundred pounds of tobacco were ranked as the first families, while those who brought but seventy pounds are now ranked as the second families; and the reason why no one can ever get a Virginian to admit that his ancestor only brought seventy five pounds of tobacco.

Sugar Lane Cider.—The Nashville News says that by putting the expressed juice of the Chinese sugar cane into a clean wooden or glass vessel, and allowing it to stand ten or twelve days, it assumes the appearance of limpid water, with a flavor of the best apple cider.

The Wood Trade and the Panic.—Under the above heading the Pennsylvania Inquirer (Republican) has the following remarks, to which we invite the attention of the reader:—

We learn that during the height of the pressure and panic which recently prevailed, a leading wool-house of this city ascertained that it had on hand a promising consignment of wool, aggregating to $224,000, and all given by manufacturing firms in New England that has suffered temporarily. The entire lot of wool was renewed for six months, and the interest in each case was paid in advance. A few days since the same house, on looking over its accounts, found, with some surprise, as well as no little gratification, that every dollar of the paper thus renewed, with the exception of about $3,000, had been paid at maturity. We regard this fact with no little pleasure. It proves three things:—

In the first place, that the panic was merely temporary; in the second, that the credit given was the result of sound judgment; and in the third, that most of manufacturers of New England have fully recovered. It also indicates the wonderful recuperative nature of this country.

In relation to the growth of the wool trade, we may state that in 1827, when the house to which we have referred commenced business, it was found quite difficult to expend five thousand dollars a year in the purchase of wool west of the Alleghenies. But now five hundred thousand may be expended easily and readily, and without exhausting the market. Nothing could more fully illustrate the onward progress of this Republic. And yet our career as a nation has only commenced. Let the Government give us a protective tariff, one suited to encourage and stimulate the growth of our manufactures, and the effect would be electrical upon every branch of commerce, trade and manufactures.

Two or three points are observable in the above. First, that the late panic was a temporary affair, and second, that generally credit given was the result of sound judgment. But the important point is that which calls for a protective tariff on wool! That, too, in the face of the fact that the Republicans of the last Congress, under the lead of Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts, were against the wool interest!

A protective tariff, such as the Philadelphia Inquirer contemplates, is one not to protect the farming interest, but the manufacturing interest.

Iron Ships for Defense.—In an elaborate article on the subject of rendering wood-ships impregnable to cannon shot, the London Times notices a recent statement by Lord Hardwicke, that he has himself seen a wrought-iron plate ship, which he makes of heavy gun iron, and which could be made of this time be preserved from injury herself she could penetrate into any harbor in the world, and employ her own batteries in knocking down all before her. Unfortunately for the theory the Times adds:—

It is perfectly true that in the experiments conducted at one of our ports the resisting power of iron was proved as afloat, and it is also proved that these iron vessels could be built to float with at least as much safety as an old ten-gun brig. All was well for the establishment of the iron ship, but the power of the old ship should remain a caution; this will not be wise. Every body knows how the old mackinac has been superseded by a rifle doing execution on infinitely greater capacity at a far greater distance, and what has been done with small arms can be done with cannon. Nay, the fact is already accomplished, for the other, after the iron-armor target has baffled the powers of ordnance, it is required to be used to try the capacity of a government gun fired by a battery. The result was declared in an instant, for the new cannon slapped her shot through the iron plate as if it had been as much ginger bread, and ruined the theory of impregnable floating batteries for some time to come. We need not, therefore, be in any desperate hurry to break up our three deckers and build a fleet of iron sides.

In the experiment referred to by Lord Hardwicke, an old government piece was employed. The Times advocates a resort to rifled cannon. Oh, says it, it would be suicidal folly to overlook.

Organizations of Daotah Territory.—The people of Daotah have at last effected an independent temporary organization of their Territory. State officers have been appointed: A Legislature convened, laws passed, &c., and the Minnesota of 1847 passed. A letter from Sioux Falls, the first Legislative assembly, dated on the 19th of October, speaking of the members, says:—

Before they convened in their hall, the stairs and stripes were unfurled from a flag staff in front of the building used as a capitol, and saluted by thirteen volleys, fired by the Daotah Rifles, and cheer upon cheer by those who had assembled to witness the inauguration of their Territory.

The Americans in Japan.—The Japanese Prince will come in a United States vessel to the isthmus and thence to Washington by next March. The harbor of Langun, twelve miles from Jeddo, is to be opened to the Americans. At Simoda, on the first of August, all the officers and men of the United States ship Powhatan were ashore, and there, in the residence of the American Consul, the coronation of Prince Mutsu was held. The Rev Mr. Wood delivered the discourse on the interesting occasion. Thus have the free blessings of a free gospel been introduced upon the heathen shore. The Japanese look much interest in noticing the ceremonies.

Important Decision.—The United States Circuit A. D. District Courts in session at Cleveland, have made an important decision in regard to Railroads. The Railway says:—

The Court delivered an elaborate opinion in the case of Olin and Griffin vs. The Clinton Line Extension Road Co., in chancery on the complainant's demurrer to defendant's answer, the questions having been argued by Mr R. F. Payne for the complainant, and Mr S. B. Prentiss for defendant on the last term.

The Court holds that "company not to have complied with the laws of Ohio in its proceeding to perfect an incorporation and to be not a corporation. The decision is an important one, not only to the stockholders of this, but of other roads in Ohio and will probably be published. Toledo Blade.

Overland Mail from California.

The Overland Mail, with letters to the 15th, has arrived. A large and enthusiastic meeting was held on the 11th, in honor of the arrival of the first mail through from St. Louis. Salutes were fired. Congratulatory speeches were made, and resolutions were passed, cordially thanking the Post Office Department for its liberality in establishing a new overland route, and for the promptness with which it has been carried out. Volunteers have been called to protect travelers on the road between Weaverville and Union against the Indians.

Frazer River dates are to the 4th. The river had fallen and considerable gold had been taken out, and the weather was too cold to work and the miners were returning to California in large numbers.

Oregon dates are to the 6th. The Indians were selling for peace, which Col. Wright refuses, and demands the unconditional surrender with all the women and property. The soldiers are destroying the grain fields and provisions of the Indians, who are reduced to a state of starvation.

Important Battle in Washington Territory.—The Portland Standard of the 29th inst., received by the last Overland Mail, gives the following description of the Battle of the "Spokane Plain," as it is called:—

Colonel Wright has again fought the Indians in his front, at the Spokane Plains, some ten miles in advance of his first battle ground. His enemies, as before, were the Spokane, Colville, Palouse and Pend Oreille tribes—numbering some six or seven hundred warriors.

Equally brilliant was the affair of the Fort Lakes in results, and in the skillful management and use of the several arms of the service. The battle of the Spokane Plains was fought on the 5th instant. The Indians having fired the grass on several sides, beset our troops with charged spears on three sides at once, until charged though the crossing flames of the burning grass, the soldiers, under the command of Major Greer, subsequently, at several points, they made attacks for a period of seven hours, but were successively and successfully routed from their positions, with the loss of two chiefs, and two brothers of the chief, Garey, killed, and many of lesser note killed and wounded, and the single casualty on our side of one man wounded. The chief who commanded in this affair is called Polakoin, who is prominent in the fight with Colonel Steptoe last night, and he is now in the hands of Colonel Wright.

On the following day the Indians asked for terms, which were refused, save an unconditional surrender of arms, property of all kinds, women and children, and unqualified submission to whatever might be imposed.

Marching up Spokane River on the 8th instant, Colonel Wright intercepted and, after a sharp skirmish, routed the Spokane and Colville Indians, captured at least eight hundred head of cattle, all of which were several days later sold, to prevent any embarrassment from the care of such a number of animals.

Colonel Wright, on the 1st instant, was at the Corps d'Alene Mission, having for some eighty miles of his march marked it with slaughter and devastation, destroying houses, large quantities of meat and dried herbs, and many of his regiments, and killed and wounded many of his defiant, confident and insolent, and in large part, abject at his feet, seeing for peace.

Spain and Mexico.—It seems from the telegraphic despatches that Spain has finally sent her fleet and army to commence war upon Mexico. That unfortunate nation owes Spain a large sum of money which she is utterly unable to pay. Indeed she can not collect revenue sufficient to keep up her own government at home, except by levying arbitrary and forced contributions upon the people. At the present time, torn by a civil war, which is laying the country desolate, without law or order, and destitute of resources, she is in no condition to resist the Spanish demand.

The Spanish war upon Mexico may lead to important results, as we have had occasion before to observe. The American filibuster adventurers, clothed with letters of marque and reprisal from the Mexican Government, and acting under its authority, can do no Spain signal damage. They may even carry their designs so far as, in the name of Mexico, to attack Cuba, while the Spaniards are engaged in the war upon Mexico. It is also possible this war may have the effect to give the United States the beautiful and wealthy province of Sonora, with its silver mines of incalculable value.

The only way Mexico can meet the Spanish payment is by alienating and disposing of Spanish slave of her extensive Territory. Much as her rulers may regret to do it, it is the only alternative. The United States, in consideration of the matter, which we have long coveted, would probably be more than ready to purchase the Mexican debts. The ultimate issue of this struggle between the two nations will be looked to with much interest. In E. g.

Arrival of the Kangaroo.—SANDY HOOK, Nov. 9. The steamer Kangaroo, having passed this point on route of N. Y., with Liverpool dates of the 27th.

It is confirmed that Portugal has delivered the Charles and George to France. Great indignation against France is expressed by the British Government. Later news had been received from China. Lord Elgin had returned from Japan, having made a satisfactory treaty. Trade at Canton was stagnant, and the Shanghai market was quiet.

Subscribers were being organized in Hamburg to present to the Captains of the Norwegian gunboat, which was sent to the Austrians, a proper, appropriate, and suitable gift, in recognition of their exertions on that occasion. The exact amount of indemnity which Portugal is to pay France in the affair of the captured slave Charles and George is not yet fixed. The London Times in reference to the subject says:—Never was voice, truth and justice more arrogantly overpowered by the more superiority of physical force. Never were the rights of a weaker nation so ruthlessly trampled upon. Never was the understanding of Europe, in the affairs of Europe, since the peace of 1815, have been conducted more entirely cast to the winds; for Portugal is left to hold her arms and record her protest against the violence to which she has been forced to submit. For Europe, there remains the precedent fraught with danger.

The Times thinks that one most lamentable result of the affair is that France can no longer be counted upon, as among those nations who are bent upon discouraging in every manner the continuance of the slave trade.

The Daily News declares Portugal entitled to the sympathy of all civilized powers, and that the censures of Europe will diversely fall on France.

General Parliamentary Elections in England resulted in favor of the Liberals. The Conservative Government, however, has resulted to the abolition of Transit Duties in the States forming the Zollverein.

Austria is said to be negotiating with Turkey for the cession of a port in the sea of Marmora for the Austrian Lloyd.

A despatch from Constantinople alluding to the affair of the Wahab, says: The U. S. Legation obtained a firman to admit to the Dardanelles only a Corvette. On the appearance of the Wahab the Port closed up the protest sent to the U. S. Legation, and the Wahab had prepared to withdraw.

Advisers from India state that Gwalior rebels were still at Serange and it was thought, would make an attempt to cross the Nebrudra. There were 3,000 rebels engaged in the conflict on the island of the Gogra. They were driven out of their intended position; one thousand killed, including two of the leaders. British loss trifling.

Oct. 27.—Broadstuffs generally slightly declined.
